Priyadarshni Hostel Hosted a Fest on Empowering Girl Child @ VFSTR

The Vignans Priyadarshni Girls Hostel organized a fest under the supervision of Dr. N. Satyasree, the chief warden. The event was expertly managed by Ms. Ramya Agasthi, the founder and director of "He Wings of Mind," a psychologist, international journalist, professional trainer, and life coach. The purpose of this gathering was to empower girl students and guide them on how to lead a fulfilling and successful life.

The fest commenced with the girl students from the hostel gathering on the ground, adorned in colorful attire. The guest speaker, Ms. Ramya Agasthi, captivated the attention of the gathering as she eloquently addressed the significance of life and the invaluable role of a girl child within the broader context of friends, family, and society. She began by highlighting the importance of understanding one's self-worth and recognizing the unique contributions that each girl child brings to their personal relationships and the community at large. She also emphasized the importance of nurturing strong bonds with friends, as these relationships often serve as a source of support and inspiration throughout life. She encouraged the students to cherish their friendships and to be empathetic and understanding towards their peers, fostering an environment of trust and mutual respect. Furthermore, she stated the crucial role that family plays in shaping a girl's life. She encouraged the students to appreciate and honor their family's love and sacrifices, while also striving to become responsible and caring individuals who contribute positively to their family dynamics.

Mrs. Shabana Azami, the in-house counseling psychologist, continued the enlightening discussion by delving into the different phases that a girl encounters throughout her life. She provided valuable insights on how to navigate these various stages effectively, ensuring personal growth and well-being.

Also, she talked about the challenges and opportunities that come with adolescence, emphasizing the importance of building resilience and self-awareness during this transformative period. By cultivating a strong sense of self and embracing change, girls can successfully navigate the complexities of their teenage years. Next, she touched upon the transition into adulthood, where young women face new responsibilities and expectations. She encouraged the students to maintain open communication with their families and friends, seek support when needed, and continue to develop their intellectual and emotional strengths.

Next, the hostel warden, Dr.N.Satya sree Satya Sree, emphasized the significance of time management and life management in achieving balance. She explained that by mastering these skills, one can lead a more fulfilling and organized life, allowing for greater productivity and personal growth. She highlighted the importance of prioritizing tasks, setting realistic goals, and allocating time efficiently to ensure that all aspects of life receive adequate attention. By striking a balance between academics, extracurricular activities, self-care, and social interactions, the students could optimize their potential and emerge as role models for their peers. She also emphasized that by serving as positive examples, you would inspire others to follow suit, ultimately bringing pride to your families by fostering a supportive environment within the hostel and beyond.

The event continued with enthusiastic participation in cultural programs, showcasing the talents and spirits of the students.

The Dean of Student Affairs was also present to grace the occasion, making it a memorable day for all the attendees.

Special Lectures will be at Vignan Institute of Law on New Criminal Laws

Vignan Institute of Law organized Special Lecture on 'New Criminal Laws'

The Vignan Institute of Law organized a Special Lecture on 'New Criminal Laws' on 6th April 2024. The resource person of the event was K. Sivaleela, Assistant Public Prosecutor at the Excise Court in Guntur. She discussed the significant changes brought about by the new criminal laws, namely Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, and Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, which are set to be implemented from 1st July 2024.

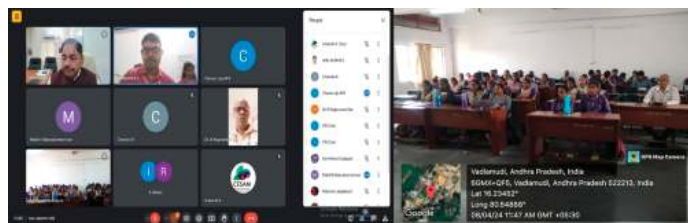

Sivaleela highlighted that the new laws have introduced certain modifications when compared to the previous laws. For instance, as per Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, for the first time Community Service has been included as a punishment for petty offenses. Additionally, the new law addresses issues such as punishment for mob lynching.

The other guest Ms. Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, explained about how the law aims to address delays in investigation and trial by providing timelines for completing certain proceedings. It also introduces new provisions like the registration of First Information Reports (FIR), rights of victims, and witness protection. She also pointed out that electronic evidence has been given importance by making it primary evidence. This highlights the significance of technological advancements in the criminal justice system.

Throughout the lecture, Sivaleela compared the provisions of the new laws with the old ones, such as the Indian Penal Code, Code of Criminal Procedure, and Indian Evidence Act. She concluded by stating that, although there are some modifications, the core legal principles related to criminal law remain applicable under the new legislations.

Faculty members and students from Vignan Institute of Law actively participated in the event, gaining valuable insights into the upcoming changes in the Indian criminal justice system.

Guest Lecture Organized by Department of Biotechnology

A guest lecture titled "IPRs are Key for Academic and Industry Excellence" was delivered by Dr. H. Purushotham, DPIIT-IPR Chair Professor at the Centre for Intellectual Property Rights, Andhra University, Visakhapatnam. The online lecture took place on April 8, 2024, from 11:30 AM to 1:00 PM, catering to an audience of 60 students (II B.Tech. Bioinformatics & II B.Tech. Biotechnology) and faculty members of VFSTR. The event was organized by Dr. Sankaran Krishnamoorthy (Dept. of Biotechnology), Dr. Chandrasekhar Kuppam (Dept. of Biotechnology), and Dr. B. Nageswara Rao (Director E-Cell) of VFSTR.

Dr. Purushotham, with 40 years of experience in R&D, IP, Innovation, Industry, and Teaching, provided the audience with a comprehensive understanding of Intellectual Property Rights (IPRs). He covered the fundamentals of IPRs, their significance in both academic and industrial settings, and the various categories that exist. The lecture focused on the two main categories of IPRs: Industrial Property (patents, trademarks, industrial designs, etc.) and Copyright & Related Rights.

Dr. Purushotham delved into patents, trademarks, trade secrets, geographical indications, plant varieties, and farmers' rights within the Industrial Property category. He emphasized the importance of patents, which grant ownership rights for inventions, and discussed the contrasting scenarios with and without patent protection under Indian IP laws. Weak IP protection can lead to larger companies dominating smaller ones, as highlighted by the professor.

A real-world example showcasing the impact of IP on the US economy was presented, reinforcing the concept of IPRs as "intellectual currency." The lecture also addressed the critical stages of IPRs: creation, protection, and commercialization. Dr. Purushotham explained the three key criteria for patentability: novelty, non-obviousness, and industrial applicability. He outlined the process of filing patents in India and the factors influencing the success or failure of intellectual properties.

The lecture concluded by emphasizing the role of IP in fostering innovation and driving industrial growth. By providing an in-depth understanding of IPRs, their categories, and their importance, Dr. Purushotham's lecture aimed to equip the audience with the knowledge to navigate the complex world of intellectual property rights in academia and industry.

Internship Review of B. Tech Biotechnology at SPSR Nellore.

On 8th April 2024, Dr. SK. Firdoz, an Associate Professor in the Department of Biotechnology from VFSTR had conducted an internship review and discussed placements for B.Tech Biotechnology and Bioinformatics students at Doctors Vet Pharma Pvt. Ltd, SPSR Nellore.

During the visit, he interacted with Dr. Atul Wagnare, the Deputy Manager of Quality Control at the company. The primary focus of the meeting was to evaluate the internship experiences of the students and explore opportunities for their placements. Additionally, Dr. Firdoz discussed the possibility of admitting industry personnel to the PhD program at VFSTR (Vignan's Foundation for Science, Technology & Research). This interaction aimed to strengthen the collaboration between the academic institution and the industry, ensuring that students receive valuable practical exposure and that the company benefits from the expertise of the university's faculty and research scholars.
