Awareness Conference For Faculty Of Vfstr On Cardiac Arrest

A special awareness conference was organised in VFSTR on Thursday, i.e., April, 13, 2023. The programme was organised under the auspices of the Dean's Promotions, Collaborations, and Faculty Affairs Office for the faculty and other staff members. The programme was on "Heart Diseases: Origin and Prevention". The chief guest of the programme was Dr. P. Ramesh Babu, Managing Director and Chief Cardiologist, Ramesh Hospitals, Guntur, and Vijaywada. He addressed the gathering and said that everyone should be vigilant about cardiac arrest. Also, it was opined that in modern life, more people are affected by heart diseases due to reasons like alcohol, smoking, fast food consumption, family tradition, gastric problems, and stress. He said that by identifying these issues early and taking precautions, a future threat can be avoided. Blood flow to the brain is critical when cardiac arrest occurs. He explains how to provide treatment at the golden time that can save a person's life. It is claimed that 98 percent of cardiac arrests can be prevented if detected early. Everyone has to maintain their body mass index levels in a proper manner. 5G ambulances and telemedicine should be made available soon.

He explained the various questions asked by the faculty on heart diseases. After that, the chief guest was honoured by Dr. Lavu Rathaiah, Chairman.

The programme was co-attended by Vice-Chancellor Professor P. Nagabhushan, Registrar Dr. MS. Raghunathan, Deans, Heads, and teaching staff of the respective departments participated in the programme.

Inauguration of the AFSTI Guntur Chapter @ VFSTR

A workshop was held on the topic "Green Coating: Investing in the Future of Food Systems," organised by the Department of Food Technology, School of Agriculture and Food Technology.

The chief guest of the programme was Dr. T. Jyothirmayi, Senior Principal Scientist, CSIR-CFTRI RC-Hyderabad, who inaugurated the programme on Saturday, April 15, 2023. P. Rama Krishna, former president of the AFSTI (Association of Food Scientists and Technologists India) Guntur Chapter, attended as the guest of honour.

The chief guest who addressed the gathering said that AFSTI, the Association of Food Scientists and Technologists (India), established in 1957, is one of the largest professional and educational organisations, with around 2500 members - food scientists and technologists, across the globe. The major objective of AFST(I) is to stimulate and advance knowledge base on various aspects of food science and technology by organising national and international conferences and bringing out technical publications, including prestigious journals-Journal of Food Science and Technology (JFST) and the Indian Food Industry Magazine (IFI Mag). The association recognises talent and excellence in the profession of food science and technology by conferring various awards and fellowships.

The guest of honour, P. Rama

Krishna opined that AFSTI is the largest professional and educational organisation in the world. There are already 46 chapters and 4500 members all over the world, and as part of that, the second AFSTI chapter was started today in Guntur, Andhra Pradesh. The main purpose of AFSTI is to provide quality food to mankind. Farmers from the surrounding areas of the university also attended the workshop programme. They were told how the crops grown by the farmers could be stored in natural ways.

Deans, heads, teaching staff, and students from the respective departments attended the programme.
