Policy on Research Incentives for Publications and Awards by Faculty

1. In order to encourage faculty for publication of quality papers in reputed journals and their participation in various research activities, it has been decided to reward them suitably and formalize the provision of Incentives in a systematic way. Accordingly, the following procedure is to be adopted for providing Research Incentives to faculty members.
 - (a) All the faculty will submit a copy of the publication for incentive by filling a proforma and letter addressed to Registrar through Rector.
 - (b) Book published / Book chapter will be given separate incentive.
 - (c) 100% of Research incentive will be given to Sole Author of the Publication.
 - (d) 50% of Research incentive will be given to First Author (Faculty & Full Time Research Scholars) of the Publication and remaining 50% of Amount will be equally distributed to co-authors.
 - (e) Publication through conference participation sponsored by University will not be considered for incentive.
 - (f) Special incentives will be given for awards, session chair, board member etc.
2. The details of Research Incentives are placed at an Enclosure to this Circular.

Engineer's Day Celebrated Grandly on Campus

All started with a prayer song when the entire spectators on and off the dais were found involved in the melodious chanting followed by a welcome dance that received a continuous loud applause. This wave of prayers was sure to have reached the Goddess Saraswathi! A formal welcome followed and our top dignitaries along with Mr. Vinod Sood, Chief Guest of this event, occupied respective seats on the dais. The programme was inaugurated with lightening of the lamp in all grandeur spreading the divine grace all over on campus.

When invited V. Madhusudhan Rao, Dean, Engineering and Management remembered the greatness of Sir, M. Visvesvaraya advising students to take a leaf from his life and to excel in their engineering career for which they need to stay focused effectively in their learning process.

The Registrar narrated the commendable engineering marvels like the famous Krishna Sagar dam in Mysore done by Sir. M. Visvesvaraya who played a key role in building of modern India.

The Rector briefed on the grand achievements of Sir. M. Visvesvaraya, showcasing his instrumental role in charting out the plan for road construction between Tirumala and Tirupati.

The Vice Chancellor spoke out Vignan having a rich academic culture and the grand celebrations demonstrate the same and no Indian engineering institutes like IIT and other top and reputed engineering institutes celebrate this event on this scale.

Mr. Vinod Sood, MD, Hughes Systique Corporation & veteran

Mr. Vinod Sood addressing the budding engineers

M Visvesvaraya was a scholar, statesman and educationist working for public good

A scholar, statesman, educationist and perhaps the most celebrated engineer in India, Mokshagundam Visvesvaraya was the embodiment of everything a country needs to strive for a better future.

This year will mark the 48th Engineers Day celebrations in India, held in commemoration of Visvesvaraya's 155th birth anniversary.

Visvesvaraya played many parts in his life and the day is marked as a remembrance of his achievements and spirit of progress.

of Telecom Software industry, shared his thoughts reflecting on his campus life which would train any engineering graduate to cope up with the challenges and reach to the societal requirements when they are ever ready to take part in the extra curricular activities available on campus. This extra mile in their life would make them rising to the level of Sir M. V. Visvesvaraya whose marvelous career showcases what works and what does not while building career path. A series of three questions were directed at the student-audience and he went through a detailed account engaging them thoroughly. He offered three questions - What does a successful career mean? How do you make right choices for the career? What are the required elements to build it? Raising the above questions, he tried to impart the required elements like 1. Focusing on Excellence; 2. Ability to take Risk; 3. Resilience; 4. Building Relations; 5. Striking a balance between professional life and life bringing glory to their family, varsity and India. Our Chairman appreciated the pragmatic conceptualization of the Chief Guest's talk and asked over the gathering to acknowledge him through a loud applause. He advocated the students to concentrate on: 1. Service to the society; 2. Being useful and making life comfortable; 3. Analyze to innovate 4. Application of knowledge; 5. Face failures 6. Be resilient by developing positive attitude; 7. Maintain good health; 8. Encourage talent. 9. Be Energetic & dynamic. He cited Steve Jobs who made Apple, the World class company. Faculty and the winners of cultural events were awarded certificates of merit. The event was ended when Vote of thanks was proposed by one of the SAC members. Preparation, organization and collaboration are the keys for a successful event and students in our varsity carried out the event in an environment full of color, warmth and camaraderie.

Outstanding Excellent Awarded Faculty were Honored with medals

The Engineer's day was celebrated with the award distribution ceremony of the faculty in the university who had exhibited their expertise outside the varsity achieving awards. The Vicechancellor and registrar of the institution addressed about the quality issues in research and congratulated all the faculty who performed extraordinary in academics, research and in administration. Dr. LavuRathaiah, Chairman of Vignan's Group have honoured all the faculty with certificates and awards.

Flamboyant Freshers' Day Celebration at VU

“Dream is something which makes us not to close our eyes, but chases you when you are alone.” says Mr. Sanjay, I.P.S.

Mr. Sanjay, I.P.S, the Chief Guest of yester noon long Fresher's Day event, addressed young engineering students stating that Vignan is known for its quality of education. He advised them to face the challenges to accomplish success. He referred to the best archer Arjuna in the Mahabharata seeing only the eye of the bird and shot. For

Mr. Sanjay, his father and the teachers were the source of inspiration to aim and to be selected for 1996 I.P.S. batch. 'Chase your dream and study for your life' he advised the students. He advocated to the faculty to be passionate being a teacher. It was a right platform for students to showcase their talents and the enthralling and enticing
